Passing on Your Faith to the Next Generation

In our society much time and money is invested in helping our children become great students, athletes, and musicians. As parents we play catch, shoot baskets, go over times tables and spelling words all in an attempt to help our children be successful in school and ultimately in life. While all of these activities are important, there is something else that is more important because it will have eternal consequences.

In Deuteronomy 6:6-7, God tells us that passing our religious values to our children should be our all-day, every-day priority. Teach your children when you get up, when you go to bed, when you go about your daily tasks.

Sound difficult? Not really, it can become something quite natural and flow out of your daily family life.

1. GIVE YOUR HOME A SPIRITUAL ATMOSPHERE. Children reflect their environment. Make it obvious to your kids that your home is one of faith. Are there religious pictures, a Bible, or religious books visible? What toys or games do your children have to play with? Do you monitor TV and the Internet? What kind of conversations takes place? How do your children start and end their day?
2. SHARE YOUR JOY IN THE LORD. Children are drawn to joy and happiness. If faith in God makes you sour or unresponsive, children will go elsewhere for joy. So make Psalm 118:24 your family motto: 'This is the day the Lord has made we will rejoice and be glad in it.' Thank God daily for His blessings. Talk about them with your family. Talk about God's love and forgiveness. Talk about His grace. Share the joy! Fill your hearts with gratitude.

3. SHARE YOUR PERSONAL FAITH EXPERIENCE WITH YOUR CHILDREN. Don't let your faith in God be one of your family's best-kept secrets. Talk openly about God. Share your faith experience—including the ups and downs—with your children. They'll learn that faith is a real part of your life, and they'll want that faith too.
4. PRAY FOR AND WITH YOUR CHILDREN EVERY DAY. Christian parents have always prayed for their children. Pray many short prayers during the day to communicate your joy or sorrow or need to God. Your children will quickly pick up the idea and God will become their confidant and friend.
5. READ GOD'S WORD EVERY DAY. God's Word undergirds faith; it provides answers for life's dilemmas, assurance in difficulty, connection in times of stress, and promises for the future. Without a strong connection to God's Word, your children will not develop faith in God. Show your children how important your Bible is to you. Use the Kids Ministry Kids LINK resources to enhance your child's Sunday lessons during the week.

Lent at Woodbury Lutheran Church

Lent

As many of you know the Church has a liturgical (I know—big word) calendar that helps move us through the ebbs and flows of the year. Perhaps the two best known “seasons” in the Church Year are the Season of Advent when we prepare for the birth of Jesus and the Season of Lent, when we enter into a posture of repentance and self-reflection as we ponder the weight of the burden that Jesus bore on our behalf as He died on the Cross of Calvary.

Lent has a special place in my heart and has always been a favorite time for me. I believe that one of the reasons why is our Mid-Week worship time. Ever since I was a kid I remember looking forward to eating great soup with friends and then hearing a special testimony from someone in the congregation. Our testimony tradition has meant that over the years hundreds of stories from disciples of Jesus have been shared in our midst. What a blessing; to see how God works in our lives!

I want to encourage each of you to make the time and join us for the 6 Wednesdays in Lent starting Ash Wednesday, February 18th. We will be walking with Jesus and hearing the final testimony of a loving Savior as we look at some of the Last Words that Jesus spoke before His death. I promise you will not regret coming and if the Lord has been nudging you to share your story talk with Pastor Derek or myself.

On Sunday’s starting February 22, we are going to explore the depths of who our God is as we look at a few of the characteristics that make God, well, God. So often we fall into the trap of defining God in our image, but as Isaiah so clearly says in chapter 55, Gods ways are not our ways. As we spend time together in worship, I pray the depth and mystery of our amazing God will make the fact that He loves us that much more overwhelming and meaningful to you.

Blessings to each of you as walk His way on the discipleship path growing to be more and more like Jesus each and every day!

Peace,
Pastor Tom

Luz Guerrero Meeting with the Latino Community

Luz Guerrero: New Addition to Her Ministry

Deaconess Luz Guerrero has worked for the last eight years for MN South District, Woodbury Lutheran Church and more recently for the LCMS National Mission Office.

The LCMS National Mission Office encourages and supports the work of pastors, deaconesses, and laypeople around the country who are engaged in outreach to the Latino community; a community that is expected to grow to 29 percent of the U.S. population by 2050.

Over the years, LCMS Hispanic Ministry has found that ministering to meet community needs—such as English classes, tutoring, after school programs, etc.—along with developing relationships with people opens up opportunities to share a Gospel witness. To strengthen and encourage all who are involved in this work, LCMS Hispanic Ministry is building regional networks where ministry leaders can share best practices and support.

This addition to her ministry is allowing Luz to travel around the country to meet and connect with Hispanic deaconesses, listening to their needs, and sharing information about the training opportunities and financial help that the Mission Office can provide for their ministries and churches. The National Mission Office anticipates creating a Hispanic Deaconess Directory, enabling nation-wide communication to promote individual and collective growth.

Luz and volunteer members of Lutheran Churches continue to host ESL classes and/or Bible Study at Woodbury Lutheran, Mt. Calvary in Richfield and Trinity First Lutheran in Minneapolis. She is also teaching advanced Spanish at Concordia University-St. Paul.

For more information about LCMS National Mission Office, visit www.lcms.org/hispanicministry or email Luz at guerrero@csp.edu.

WLC DISCIPLESHIP PATH

The WLC Discipleship Path

Confluence

Con-flu-ence (kon 'flōō əns), noun, a coming or flowing together, meeting, or gathering at one point.

Confluence is often used to describe the place where two streams or rivers come together. They meet, join and flow on together. Bigger, faster, more powerful water because of the joining.

We're experiencing a confluence around here these days. It has been going on for some time but it's just now that we're starting to recognize the joining and the strength of the movement resulting from it.

Back in 2013 we launched into Greater, a journeying together as a congregation, focusing on God's greatness and asking ourselves an important question, "How can God use me to accomplish His will for Woodbury Lutheran Church?" Greater asked each of us to commit to five things: Greater Growth, memorizing and reflecting on scripture weekly; Greater Connection, joining and investing in a small group; Greater Service, increasing involvement by volunteering; Greater Reach, inviting one person or family to WLC each year; and Greater Sacrifice, an above-and-beyond financial pledge to the ministry of WLC.

All kinds of wonderful things have begun happening since Greater launched. Scripture cards for reflection and prayer found their ways into homes and offices, small group participation increased dramatically, new servants joined in using their gifts in ministry, new people came through our doors and experienced God's grace here, and generosity, already remarkable, increased.

Lately you've been hearing a lot about something we're calling the Discipleship Path. The Discipleship Path is the way we describe the process we believe God is using at Woodbury Lutheran to make disciples. The Path has four pieces: Worship, Grow, Serve and Reach. Scripture and research into spiritual growth both point to these four as critical pieces in a disciple's maturity. And whether a person is a brand new or a lifelong follower of Jesus, each piece, and the Path as a whole, is fundamental.

Do you see the merging, the flowing together, the confluence? Greater is a three-year initiative designed to spur us on into an increasing participation in God's mission. The Path is a lifelong process of maturing, of becoming more like Jesus. The five Greater initiatives got us all thinking about God's mission and our growth. The Discipleship Path carries those initiatives forward in an ongoing process helping us ask and answer the important question, "What's next?"

It's exciting to be here, in the midst of this confluence. And we're confident that our God, who moves with amazing timing, and orders things to accomplish His purposes, will continue the work He's doing in us and through us.

The Parables of Lent

This Lenten study will be available beginning Sunday, February 1 at the Valley Creek and Oak Hill Campuses.

These Lenten daily devotions on the stories of Jesus will take us line by line through some of the most well-known parables of Jesus that teach repentance, forgiveness, sacrifice and everlasting love.

The devotion books are free and are available at the Welcome Centers on each campus. Numbers are limited, so pick yours up soon.

Dean Nadasdy is the former Senior Pastor of Woodbury Lutheran Church and the current President of the Minnesota South District for the Lutheran Church Missouri Synod.

A CHILD WILL LEAD THEM

Recently my family was about to go into a grocery store when an ambulance drove by—sirens blaring.

My five-year-old asked if he could pray for the sick person before we got out of the van. "Of course," we said. He prayed for this person and other sick people for nearly 10 minutes while we sat in silence in the van. My wife or I could have easily stopped his prayer short, but we knew we would be getting in the way of my son worshipping God and modeling his faith to us and his brothers.

Josiah was a 12-year-old boy in my ministry. One year he came up with an idea to take all of the money his parents would normally spend on Christmas for his family of four and use it to buy clothes for the homeless in Indianapolis where they would be visiting family on Christmas. Josiah also wanted to take a trip to downtown Indianapolis on Christmas morning to hand out these clothes. His parents could have said, "No—that's a good idea for you, but what about your brother and sisters?" Or they could have said, "Why should we leave our family on Christmas morning to hand out clothes to people we don't even know?" However, after talking together as a family, the family decided to give up Christmas gifts that year and bless the lives of people they didn't know in a city where they didn't even live.

In its purest form, worship is how we respond to God out of our love for Him. As parents, we often think we're the ones who should be modeling worship to our children. However, many times our kids have a desire to model Christ's love through worship and acts of love, and we get in their way by saying no or "not right now."

This month, ask your child to think of a way she can worship Christ by loving others. Don't dismiss any of her ideas; instead, take every action you can to help your child follow the Spirit's leading. Not only will your child have a great example of modeling her faith to others, but she'll also see you modeling your faith by responding to God together with her.
